Article 1 - History

Section 1 The National Honor Guard was established in 1951 at the Women’s Army Corps Veterans’ Association (WACVA) National Annual Convention with twenty-two (22) members from various Chapters located close to the Nation's Capital. This was done to insure representation of our Association at various ceremonies held in the District of Columbia.

a. The first set of written policies for the National Honor Guard was established by the members of the Board of Directors of the Women's Army Corps Veterans’ Association. At the 1971 Annual National Convention the first Certificates of Appreciation for service in the National Honor Guard were awarded.

b. During the 1972 Annual National Convention, the number of members authorized in the National Honor Guard was increased to forty (40), and as members retired or were placed on the inactive rolls, members from new Chapters and new Members-at-Large (MAL) were given first preference at membership. The decision to have at least six (6) and no more than fifteen (15) members within the commuting distance of our Nation's Capitol was also approved.

c. In 1992, the WACVA membership expanded to well over 5,000 members. The demands placed on our National Association to have members participate in various military related activities throughout the United States made it essential that the membership of the National Honor Guard to be increased.

d. The 1995 Board of Directors approved the following policy. “No restriction is placed on the number of National Honor Guard members per chapter or total National Honor Guard membership. The number of members eligible for reimbursement at the Annual National Convention shall be in accordance with Article IX, Section 10e of the National Bylaws.” (Appendix D forms WACVAHGHNBK-1 this Handbook.)

e. The approved 1996 edition of the Bylaws authorized the Captain of the National Honor Guard to exercise full supervision over the activities of the Guard. The Captain of the National Honor Guard shall report annually to the National Board of Directors on the activities of the National Honor Guard. The National Sergeant-at-Arms shall conduct the annual election to select the Captain and Lieutenant of the National Honor Guard.

One (1) Guard will escort each National Officer and the Captain will escort the National President. At the Head Table the Guard(s) will escort the National Officers to their respective seats. They will then assemble at the back of the room and proceed to their designated seats in formation. (A hand salute is not rendered during this function.)

b. Installation of National Officers: The National President will ask the Captain of the National Honor Guard or her designee to escort the Installing Officer to the platform. Once the Installing Officer is on the platform and in place, she will ask the Captain or her designee to escort any outgoing National Officers from the platform, and to escort the newly elected National Officers to the platform.

Normally the National Honor Guard members escorts each assigned retiring officer to the Past President's table, and escorts their counterpart, the newly elected National Officers, from their table to the opposite end of the platform. This sequence is repeated until all of the officers have been re-positioned. The National Honor Guard members then return to their designated seats.

Section 5 Retiring the Colors:

a. After the installation of new officers has been completed, the New National President will ask the Captain of the National Honor Guard to retire the Colors. The designated Color Bearers proceed to the platform for the flags. The remaining National Honor Guard members will take a position on each side of the center aisle, facing the center aisle, and rendering a hand salute as the Colors pass each member of the Guard. When the Colors pass the last Guard, the Captain of the National Honor Guard will give the following commands, "Order Arms, Right or Left Face, and Forward March!" The Colors and the National Honor Guard will proceed out of the room followed by the Captain and Lieutenant of the National Honor Guard.

Section 6 Reimbursement:
a. Honor Guard members will be reimbursed for registration and meals at the Annual Convention in accordance with National Bylaws Article XVI – Authorized Reimbursement, Section 4. See form: appendix D.
